

Pet Poison Safety (Poison Prevention for our furry kids)

- Alcohol – Dogs love alcohol and can swill a large amount in a very short time. In both cats and dogs, it can lower their blood sugar and cause coma.
- Antifreeze tastes GOOD! Very small amounts can cause death. Seek immediate treatment by calling your Veterinarian.
- Only give pet food to your pet. Give your furry kid pet treats, not human treats.
- Chocolate can cause nausea, vomiting, convulsions and serious heart problems in both cats and dogs. One ounce of Baker's chocolate can kill your dog! (Do not place food and candy gifts within reach of your pets.) Be aware that wrapped gifts arriving from out of town might contain a food item.
- High fat foods can cause indigestion as well as damage to the pancreas. Examples of fatty foods are: peanuts, whole milk, ground beef, bacon, ham and giblets, dark meat and skin from poultry. Also, there have been reports of dogs suffering from kidney failure after eating large amounts of grapes or raisins.
- Onions and garlic and their seasoning salts can cause anemia in pets.
- It's tempting to want to share bones from the holiday turkey, chicken or steak. Think again – small bones or bone chips can lodge in the throat, stomach and intestinal tract.
- Christmas tree needles are sharp and can puncture your pet's intestines if eaten. Some preservatives used in the tree stand water can cause stomach upset. Do not add aspirin or sugar to the water.
- Holly and mistletoe are poisonous to pets and care must be taken to keep them out of reach
- Poinsettia is not as poisonous as once thought but eating the leaves can cause stomach upset and vomiting.
- Tinsel and ribbon can get caught in the intestines and cause internal cuts or a serious blockage.
- Glass ornaments can cause cuts in the mouth, stomach or bowels.
- Ice melting products can cause burns to the pads of the feet. If eaten, it can cause nausea, vomiting and dehydration.
- If you suspect a poisoning, call the Rocky Mountain Poison Center anytime day or night at 1-800-222-1222.

“Be Smart, Keep Kids and Poisons Apart”

